1947 Kyian Queen Coronation At Dance

Semi-Formal Held Tomorrow Night

The coronation of the 1947 Kentuckian queen will climax the Omicron Delta Kappa - Kentuckian semi-formal dance to be held tomorrow night from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Student Union's Bluegrass room.

The ceremonies attending the crowning of the campus queen will begin in the ball room at 10:30 p.m. and will be presided over by Dr. Niel Plummer, head of the journalism department and a member of ODK, who will reign as king over the annual dance. The queen will be presented to the king by the winner of the "Best Dressed Man on the Campus" contest, held in Memorial hall last night.

Including a portable posthole digger, a two-man tobacco-housing hoist, a model water supply and sewage system, weed and insect killers, and modern machinery, the exhibit was seen by hundreds during the convention. The show, similar to the one seen last year by almost 50,000 persons, in 47 counties, includes more than 100 items—equipment to make life on the farm easier and more pleasant.

The native of Louisville, she was a daughter of Mrs. Edna Blackwell Wilson and the late Rev. Leigh Wilson. She received her elementary education in the Lexington public schools.

Mrs. Wilson was a member of the Delta Zeta social sorority; Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary; and had served for several years as secretary of the Association of Kentucky Registrars. She was a member of the Maxwell street Presbyterian church and was an active worker and teacher in the church's Sunday school.

Besides her mother, she is survived by two sisters and a brother.

Services will be held today at 10:30 a.m. in the W. R. Millard mortuary chapel. The Rev. John K. Johnson will officiate. Burial will take place in the Lexington cemetery.

In observance of Miss Wilson's death, the campus flag flew at half mast Wednesday.

The University makes a practice of granting changes of status at the age of 70. It is reported that changes are granted after age 65 in cases of ill health. Dr. Dantzler, 69, has recently been returned home after receiving treatment at Good Samaritan hospital for a heart condition.

Dr. Dantzler was graduated from Wofford college, Spartanburg, S.C., with an A.B. in 1888. He received an A.M. degree from the same school in 1900 and an M.A. degree from Vanderbilt university in 1902.

Honorary Degree

In recognition of his achievements in the fields of letters, Wofford college presented Dr. Dantzler with the degree of honorary doctor of letters—LL.D.—in 1934.

He came to the University in 1912 as associate professor of English. He was named acting head of the English department in 1914 and has been permanent head since 1915.

Lectures At Leipzig

Before coming to UK he was lecturer in English literature at the University of Leipzig, Germany, from 1910 until 1912. He was also professor of modern languages at the Citadel Military college in South Carolina.

Dr. Dantzler is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the American Dialect society, Kappa Sigma, social fraternity, and the Kentucky Education association.

Funkhouser Breaks Leg

Expects To Meet Classes Wednesday

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the Graduate School and secretary of the Southeastern conference, is expected to be able to resume the teaching of his classes by next Wednesday according to Queenie Morrow Grable, school secretary.

Dean Funkhouser suffered a cracked leg bone and pulled cartilage in his knee in a fall Tuesday.

He fell on the slick pavement at Euclid and Limestone when alighting from a stalled city bus to come to the campus. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital emergency room where an X-ray examination was made.

The leg is in a cast, but Dr. Funkhouser expects to be able to come to the University on crutches next week.

He is at his home at 268 West Second street.

Dr. Funkhouser's general zoology classes are being taught by substitute professors until he is able to return.

Preliminary Try-Outs For All-Campus Sing Have Been Canceled

Preliminary try-outs for the All-Campus Sing which were announced last week, will not be held, according to Helen Hutherton, chairman of the planning committee for the event.

All groups that had applications by the dead-line, February 5, will participate in the sing, which will be held in Memorial hall Feb. 19. Sponsors of the affair are Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Beta, Mortar Board, and Phi Mu Alpha.

The following is a list of the participating organizations and their leaders:

Phi Delta Theta, David Allen Thomas; Delta Tau Delta, H. B. Wright; Lambda Chi Alpha, Ellis Monach; Sigma Nu, Ted Hale; Phi Kappa Alpha, Howard Stephenson; Kappa Alpha, Sonny Schlegel, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Kappa Kappa Gamma, Sue Ann Bradford; Chi Omega, Leslie Toll; Alpha Delta Pi, Joan Neal; Kappa Alpha Theta, Joyce Lewis; Alpha Xi Delta, Freda Cornelius; Zeta Tau Alpha, Betty Bartee; Delta Zeta, Betty Hensley, and Delta Delta Delta, Scotty McCulloch.

All women students who have been active Girl Scouts are requested to register in the Dean of Women's office. The Girl Guides of England are extending an invitation to former Girl Scouts who are now in college to visit England this summer.

All Ex-Girl Scouts Contact Dean Holmes

Guignol, the University Little Theatre, requests the aid and assistance of any talent on the campus in the sponsoring of a children's matinee variety program in the theatre every other Saturday morning from 10 'till 11.

Any one who is interested in magic, marionettes, shadow plays, stories, chit-chat, rag pictures, juggling, acrobatics, dancing, puppets, or any other type of entertainment that would be of interest to small children is invited to contact Director Frank Fowler at Guignol.

Noon Sweater Swing

The second noon sweater swing of the quarter will be held Tuesday from 12 to 1 p.m. in the ballroom of the SUB.

Clark Plans To Finish Book During Spring Quarter Leave

By Jim Wood

Lydia E. Pinkham and the "Fine Art of lynching" may be two completely unrelated subjects to most people, but to Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the department of history, they help show the trend of Southern thinking as influenced by its country's editors since the Civil War.

The theme of a book for which material has already been gathered by Dr. Clark, his latest work will be a sequel to Pills, Petticoats and Plows, a story of the Southern country store, and will be published by the Bobbs-Merrill company the latter part of this year.

Dr. Clark, who is the recipient of the faculty's "Most Distinguished Professor of the Year" award for the current school year, says he will devote his spring quarter leave, which is granted annually by the University to the holder of this honor, to completing his book.

Another chapter will be devoted to "perhaps the most important news that many papers ran . . . of queer-shaped eggs, strangely deformed animals, human beings and plants that were reported to the editor."

A devotee of various aspects of Southern history, Dr. Clark says that his favorite teaching subjects are the New South, Kentucky History, and American Frontiers, of which he finds Kentucky history "tremendously fascinating."

Concerning his UK students, Dr. Clark said he wanted them to study not so much the details, but to get an overall view of the society and world system in which they live, adding that if students acquire good reading habits they will learn much more history after they graduate than they did while in school.

On March 24, 25, and 26, Dr. Clark will deliver at Louisiana State University the three "Fleming Lectures," a series named in honor of the southern historian, Walter Fleming. He will then spend three weeks at the University of Georgia and the University of South Carolina doing additional work on his next book.

He will return to the University for the fall quarter to resume his teaching duties, after spending his summer term at the University of Chicago, where he will teach Southern history.

UK Recorder Buried Today

Miss Wilson, Staff Member 16 Years

Miss Jessie Louise Wilson, 37, of 134 South Arcadia park, a member of the University registrar's staff for 16 years and recorder since 1937, died at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday at the Good Samaritan hospital where she had been under treatment since Dec. 4. She had been ill for several months.

A graduate of the University, where she received both her bachelor and master degrees, Miss Wilson had been connected with the registrar's office since her student days.

A native of Louisville, she was a daughter of Mrs. Edna Blackwell Wilson and the late Rev. Leigh Wilson. She received her elementary education in the Lexington public schools.

Barnhart Exhibits Work In Louisville

Prof. Raymond Barnhart of the art department, is the exhibitor of 16 paintings currently hanging in an art display at the Memorial auditorium in Louisville.

The paintings, in oil and water color, are being shown in connection with an exhibition sponsored by the Crit club, an organization consisting of the active artists belonging to the Louisville Art association.

An assistant professor in the Department of Art, Barnhart teaches drawing and design. He is well known in the Cincinnati and Louisville art centers as an exhibitor.

The reproductions, now on display in art galleries of the Biological Sciences building, will be available for a fee of 10 cents per month. They may be selected in advance by contacting Professor Barnhart, and may be obtained after February 15.

Engineers Feature

"In Old Chicago"

"In Old Chicago," the second in a series of movies being presented by the University Engineering Student Council, will be shown tonight in Memorial hall.

All engineering students and guests as well as all University veterans and their guests are invited to attend. It has been announced by the council.

The council reports that it has been able to secure a larger movie screen than the one previously used and that the pictures should be clearer to persons seated on the back rows.

"Captain Fury," shown two weeks ago, was attended by approximately 500 persons, and pictures will continue to be shown as long as they receive enthusiastic support, the council reported.

Wright or Wrong

By Orman Wright

One of the nice (if I didn't have such a deep belief in the essential goodness of my fellow man, I wouldn't leave myself open like this) things about this column is that you never know what next week will bring. I admit sometimes it even puzzles me. However, it might be that this situation has its good aspects. I doubt if this column has over twenty regular readers. I read it of course because I write it. My kinfolks read it, because I worry them to death if they don't. The Phi Delt pledges read it because they love me (those boys aren't dumb). And the editor reads it because she has to. Then I suspect I have at least one other reader whom I have purposefully neglected to mention. But, to get back to the original topic, I think this has its advantages because most of the people who read this read it because somebody told them Wright was good this week. This means that I have a lot more readers when I do something good than when I do something bad. Of course, in either circumstances the number is not very large, but regardless, if I had my choice, I suppose this is the way I would prefer it.

A good many people have asked me at one time or another how I came to write this column, why I persist in writing it, and a lot of other foolish questions. Well, it's a long story—at least 18 inches, I hope.

Here's how it began: Last summer I had a class with Patsy Burnett, who had just been appointed editor of the paper. Patricia was having a lot of trouble filling up two pages and was vaguely looking (looking vaguely is a nice trick if you can do it) for a column to go on the editorial page. After a week of going to all eight o'clock class with me, Patsy was completely captivated by my charming personality (when introduced to a girl, I click my heels, genuflect three tucky. Once while he was working in Cincinnati an urgent message from the War Office came in for immediate transmission to Louisville. The plastering was half off the ceiling, a small stove in the center of the room was the only source of heat, and the wires and instruments were scorched from lightning arcs, which, Edison said, exploded "like cannon shot, making that office no place for an operator with heart disease."

In the office moved a procession of roving operators, and discipline was anything but strict. One of the stories which Edison later enjoyed relating concerned his experience with one of the operators who came to the office while drunk. In short order he kicked the door off its hinges, toppled the stove and its pipe to the floor, flooding the room with soot, piled all the tables on top of the wrecked stove, ripped the instruments loose, splattered the place with blood when he cut his hand, and finally knocked all the acid-filled batteries to the floor with the result that the account books were consumed by the fluid. Next morning everybody waited expectantly as the office manager arrived. This dignitary surveyed the wreckage carefully, and finally turned to the staff and declared:

"If George does this again, I'll fire him."

Edison had had some experience with the easy-going Louisville office even before he came to Kentucky. He was engaged to make one of his first "discoveries." This invention was a vertical style of writing which he perfected, after much experimenting, in order to speed up his transcription of the press reports. This style of writing later became a fad and was used largely by teachers of penmanship.

The problem of developing a speedy method of writing had been very real to Edison because he was receiving between eight and fifteen columns of news every day while working in Louisville. The news was being transmitted by way of Cincinnati on a wire which Edison could not interrupt, if he missed a word or sentence. The wires often worked badly but still the words piled up upon him at the rate of 25 to 40 minutes.

This problem had to be solved, so Edison went about experimenting. The result was in the style of writing for which he was recognized for the rest of his life.

Edison worked in the old telegraph offices for a while. These were

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Kentucky Kernel:

"Wright or Wrong" gave a very good answer to Messrs. Tribble, Crutchfield and Chesnut, Jr., or should they be addressed by "Masters"? Certainly they are very childish in their letter printed week before last in The Kernel.

Why keep dragging the veterans into everything that goes wrong? My husband is an ex-GI and after discussing the letter with him, we both came to the same conclusion, that a grown man back from service would be less likely to wear a high school letter than one just out of high school. They've "put away childish things." Wearing a high school letter in college is a little like a gao who's no longer engaged to a man continuing to wear his diamond because she's afraid she'll never get another!

If the three students have to wear their high school letters, it's probably because they can't or won't try to earn a "K." When I entered the University I had three earned high school letters from my school. I didn't wear them because I had graduated and was in a new school where, incidentally, I wasn't good enough to earn a "K" but I didn't feel behind a trumped up letter. However, I'm sure their loyalty will be a deep down, lasting, good thing for "section B."

thing, and quick.

Several months ago I attended an alumni meeting here in Chicago. About 50 men and women, alumnae of U.K., attended, who'd graduated during the past fifty years and they could have shown you school spirit and loyalty, and they numbered among them well known and very successful business and professional people.

As for hoping the "Cats" would get a beating by Kentucky Wesleyan, why don't you three go over there, get on the team, and see what you can do? You're square pegs in round holes, boys, you "wise up" before you're just three more for "section B!"

Very truly yours,
Margaret Fry Griesel,
Grad. Engineering, 1930.

Post-Office Line

The line at the post-office window during the between-class periods has become so long that many students wishing to mail letters and then get to class on time find it impossible. Students who want only to get through the post office to the book store have an equal amount of trouble fighting the crowd. Yet only one window of the post office is open for sale of stamps and receipt of packages.

Formerly both windows were kept open. Now that the student body has increased, only one window remains open, and the student finds that purchase of a three-cent stamp requires ten minutes of his valuable quarter-system time. Plus the two or three minutes necessary to fight back through the line to reach the letter slots, this must result in a tremendous loss of man-hours daily.

During the period while classes are in session, there is little need for more than one window. But the post office employees should open both windows at least during the ten-minute between-class periods and preferably for five minutes before and after.

If more employees are necessary for such a step, they should be hired. The student body and the faculty should receive better service.

Unsigned Letters

Two letters which were publishable were received by The Kernel last week, but students who wrote them had neglected to sign their names. Because of policy dictated by the fact that a writer may be needed in case trouble should come from publication of a letter and by courtesy, The Kernel can publish no unsigned letters.

However, names of letter-writers will be withheld upon request.

Anything worth writing is worth signing. An editor who would heed correction or comment in a signed letter often—and usually—will disregard any statement in an unsigned one as something from "some crackpot who had his feelings hurt." Such unsigned letters often are never even read when the recipient sees that they bear no signature.

If the writers of the two letters mentioned above will call at The Kernel office and identify themselves, the letters will be published.

The latest theme song of University veterans is "Just a Shanty in Old Shawneetown."

Now that we have safer steps and Denman's dictionary, how about University unity?

Members and guests of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity contributed $70 to the "March of Dimes" drive at an informal dance held Friday night at Springhurst.

The affair, which was attended by 140 persons, was given in honor of the chapter's pledge class.

Robert Andrijunas, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements, and Bobby Bleidt and his orchestra furnished the music.

Epsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta will entertain with a Valentine dance tonight in the Gold room of the Lafayette hotel from 8:30 to 12.

Saturday afternoon the Alpha Gams will entertain the Sigma Nus and the ATO's with an open house from 3 to 5.

ADPs have an open house for the PiKA's this afternoon from 3:30 to 5.

Elizabeth Walters is the newly-elected president of Xi chapter of Alpha XI Delta.

Phi Deuterion chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa will honor its housemother, Mrs. M. C. Morgan, with a Sunday afternoon at the chapter house.

The Tri Deltas will hold open house for the Sigma Nus this afternoon from 4 till 6.

The Sigma Nus are really popular these days—the Thetas gave them an open house last Friday afternoon.

Harold Snowden, Winchester, has been elected president of the KA pledge class. Other officers are Bobby Brown, Louisville, vice president; Phil Steele, Lexington, secretary; Dick Hoddy, Louisville, sergeant-at-arms.

Will Cox was voted the outstanding pledge for the fall quarter, and Bill Hundley was appointed house president.

Cassell Lane has been reappointed the KA "7" for the winter quarter.

Alpha Xi chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha will have a buffet supper Sunday in honor of new initiates.

Pledges of Kentucky Epsilon chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will entertain the actives and their clerks and others.

Nelda Napier, past president of Delta Zeta, and student at the University of Michigan, was the week end guest of the Delta Zetas.

The Sigma Nus entertained Lt. R. G. Becker, Sigma Nu at Iowa State, and Mrs. Becker, and Lt. and Mrs. P. H. Burns Jr., of New Mexico A&M with a party at Springhurst last Saturday night.

The Phi Taus celebrated Kentucky's win over Notre Dame Saturday night with a party at the Pastime Book Club in Louisville following the game.

Monday night the Phi Taus serenaded in honor of the following pinning: Dorothy Beal and Lloyd Waddell, and Lynn Woolridge and Porter Baxter.

Endowment
Shall I be lame because I am imprisoned?
Shall I be blind for bars that split the sun?
Shall I be deaf because my ear is pinioned?

My eyes are fuller if my feet are captive.
My eye is richer in the silent hours.
Strange new sense rise above by shackles.

And suffering bestows a monstrous power.

When I was in the world I saw no people.
When I was in the garden smelled no roses.
I listened to the strings yet heard no music.
I kissed warm lips and yet my own were frozen.

I saw the sky but not the eternal.
I sniffed the bloom but did not smell the seed.
I harkened to music but heard no Jehovah.

I felt my wealth but did not feel my greed.

Now I am banished from the chant of color;
And exiled from the scent of laughing rhymes.
But suddenly I see and hear beyond me
Life's beauty rising for the first time.

And exiled from the scent of laughing rhymes.

But suddenly I see and hear beyond me
Life's beauty rising for the first time.

Norwood Wolf Talks To Mining Engineers

H. Norwood Wolf, advisor to the Norwood Society of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, addressed the society on January 24 concerning a broad education in the field of engineering. Dr. M. M. White, head of the psychology department, continued this discussion on January 31, when he stressed the application of practical psychology in business methods and relationships.

Field Trip

The society is planning a field trip for junior and senior members to various mining and metallurgical industries in Kentucky and neighboring states on March 7, 8, and 9.

Herman Bernstein was selected on January 31 as delegate to the Engineering Student Council.

SGA Appoints

Report of conference with Mr. Peterson and Mr. Morris: The Book Store sells at contract list prices furnished by the book corporation from which the book store purchases books. These lists may be found by anyone desiring to check them, in the Library.

The Book Store gets a 20 percent discount from these prices as gross profits.

A. Ten percent of Book Store profits goes to the University for use of building, equipment, etc. B. The Book Store bears the cost of putting these books before the students, that is, costs of shipping books are absorbed by the Book Store. The margin of profit on used books is 33.33 percent, i.e., the Book Store will pay $2 for a book which it sells at three dollars. Of this marginal profit, 30 percent goes to the University.

If used books are bought by the Book Store and are discontinued use by the University, the Book Store may incur a loss, for it must sell them to jobbers at a very low price—sometimes as low as 10 cents per book. If the Book Store purchases used books, knowing at the time that they cannot be resold to students here, the price given must be lower than it would be, were it possible to resell the books here. Jobbers refuse to pay more than 10 to 25 cents per book. As stated above, the Book Store pays half price, when new, for used books.

Question—Can anyone point out jobbers who will pay half price for used books? The Book Store does not sell used books at the prices charged when new.

The Book Store often carries a burden over a long period of time. Thus it buys books in November which it cannot sell until January. To do this, money must be borrowed at 5 percent interest. This is important, in view of the fact that two-thirds of the students are veterans whose books are not paid for, for a considerable period of time.

"Any student is cordially invited at any time to discuss with Mr. Morris how the Book Store is operated, and to check the invoices against the prices being charged for the books.

"SGA: Suggest you send a member to Purdue, Columbia, Cincinnati, or other University and compare prices.

Prof. Kuenzel Talks To ASME Members

Prof. Herbert Kuenzel, chairman of the committee for Group Six of the student members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, spoke to the University chapter January 31 on the recent reorganization of state branches into 14 groups throughout the country.

Professor Kuenzel, professor of physical metallurgy at the Washington university, St. Louis, told members that a group convention will be held in May in Indianapolis, at which time each school in the group will present papers prepared by two members.

At a business meeting, the society voted to hold a party-dance February 21 at Castlewood. The cost will be 35 cents per person.

Howard Estill, social chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

German Club Meeting

Short talks on German customs and culture will be the program at a meeting of the German club at 4 p.m., Tuesday in room 302, Miller hall.

At a previous meeting the following officers were elected: John Allen, president; Gloria Hartmann, vice president; Mary Ann Galloway, secretary; and Gerald Reams, treasurer.

PR Elects Officers

Officers for Company C-3 of Pershing Rifles, professional military society, on the campus for the next two quarters were elected at a meeting Tuesday night, according to Captain Elbert Cheek, PR head.

William E. Tuttle was chosen first lieutenant; Dalton B. Caldwell and Charles H. Wills were named second lieutenants for the period. Cheek will retain the position of captain.

"From the foregoing facts it is concluded that the charge of unreasonable profits being made by the Book Store is ill-founded."

University's Student Directory Available For Distribution

The University's Student Directory, an annual publication of vital statistics concerning all enrolled students, will be available for distribution during this weekend. Howard Stephenson, president of the Student Government Association, announced yesterday.

The Directory, published yearly by SGA, will be distributed to all University residence units and fraternity and sorority houses as soon as the booklets are received from the printers. In addition to this, a general distribution will be made in the Union building from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. during the first two days after the books arrive.

The supplement to this publication is already in preparation, Stephenson continued. The present directory was compiled on the basis of fall registration, and the supplement will contain the winter quarter enrollment.

The Directory will contain the name, home address, college, class, Lexington address, and Lexington telephone number of each student in the University.

Vets Vote In New Assembly

Sixty representatives of six divisions of the Veterans club were elected to positions on a newly-established representative assembly, according to Darrel B. Hancock, vice president of the club.

The assembly met Tuesday to discuss the plan for election of officers of the club which will take place sometime before March 5. Next regular meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday in room 205 SUB.

Purposes of the assembly are to take some of the load off club officers, and promote wider interest in club activities by allowing a more representative group to actually conduct club business.

Elected were the following: town veterans, William Champion, Stan Skees, Charles D. Wood, Milton Kafosis, all of Lexington, and John D. Whisman, Clay City.

Representing the women's division: Billy Bullis, Calvert City; Marsha Cloyd, Richmond; Nancy Tutt and Garnett Gayle, Lexington; Nancy Kirby, Krypton.

Representing Coopersburg: Murphy Combs, Hazard; James Brock, Harlan; Virgil Lary, Winchester; Leslie Hammonds, Barbourville, and Allen Clark, Walkerville.

Representing the men's barracks: William Baggett Paduach; Peter Black, New York City; Miller T. Campbell, Lexington; Edgar Goodwin, Louisville, and Robert Luck, Covington.

Representing fraternities: Robert Gerner, Newport; Thomas Montgomery, Lexington; Joseph Evans, Ashland; Thomas Prather, Hickman, others in the line-up.

The third match of the IOK Intercollegiate Chess League, between UK and DePauw, will take place at the same time.

Transportation is needed for members of the teams. Anyone who can provide a car please call W. B. Long, Shelby 3382.

Ruppmen Rout Irish, 60-30, Knock Tide From Undefeated

By Baxter Melton

Onward and onward go Coach Adolph Rupp's all-conquering eagles, who now has 22 wins in 23 starts. Latest victims were Notre Dame, second to Kentucky in national rankings, and Alabama, undefeated and co-leader of the Southeastern conference until the 'Cats came calling. A time-worn expression of "the bigger they are, the harder they fall" might be applied to the Notre Dame game. The Irish, picked to give the Ruppmen their toughest test, were beaten, 60-30, with the ease a varsity enjoys over novices in inter-team practice. Only when the S. Bendons' real worth is realized is Kentucky's genuine greatness apparent. 'Twas not that the Irish were not a good team in their own right; the fact remains that the Wildcats were just that much better.

Cats Near Perfection

Saturday night's artistry in Louisville will be recorded as one of the best cage exhibits in the city's history, may reach the No. 1 spot in the minds of those who saw it, anyhow. Not only were the Wildcats playing heads-up ball offensively, but they were blanketing the Notre Dame attack with an almost invulnerable defense. The losers made only nine field goals all night, could register only two during the entire second half.

Mention of individual stars among Kentucky's gallants is a facetious gesture for the most part, because teamwork, determination and all-around efficiency combined to reward the Lexington lads with victory. Alex Groza paced the point parade with 18, was followed closely by Ralph Beard with 17, and these two turned in excellent floor games. Groza's rebounding and tip-in work left little to be desired. Captain Ken Rollins was invaluable in his general role, excelled on defense. Jack Tingler, Wallace Jones and Joe Holland were likewise noteworthy during their respective stints at forward. Holland's work under the baskets, and all three's ball-hawking were something to watch.

Franville Curran topped the losing cause with nine tallies. Leo Barnhart gained seven. The Irish missed 12 free throws. Kentucky 7. Twenty-three fouls were called on the Wildcats. 13 on Notre Dame. The loss was Notre Dame's third in 14 tries.

Second only to the game inside was the excitement outside in the streets as hundreds tried vainly to obtain tickets. Scalpers asked and got as high as $40 for seats. Even after the game had started, would-be spectators jammed the outer entrances, trying to get a glimpse of the game, maybe "get in."

Kentucky 48, Alabama 37

The largest basketball crowd in Tuscaloosa history, 5,000 saw Rupp's Raiders parry with Alabama's Crimson Tide, feel out the foe, then go on to a 48-37 decision. Roughness marred the tilt, as the host cagers were determined not to relinquish their tie for the league lead, had pointed for the start a long time. They might as well have pointed for the moon, however, for the Kentuckians, obviously off form, still had enough power to withstand any chal-

Kappas, KD's Tied In Girl's Tourney

by Em Astbury

The Kappas and KD's are tied for first place in the inter-sorority round robin tourney, featuring broken finger mats and being held each afternoon.

Until Tuesday the Theta had been ahead of the pack, but the black and gold clad girls were handed a 33-16 upset by the KD's, paced by Ruth Wilde. Wilde scored the amazing total of 26 points. Previously the Thetas had trounced the Alpha Z's, 23-11; the Chi-O's, 30-21; the ADPs, 26-16, and tied the Tri-Dels, 14-14, earlier in the tourney.

The blue-attired Kappas have met with little opposition since their 13-13 tie with the K.D.'s in their opener. Kappa victims include the Zetas, 19-15, and Tri-Dels, 26-12. The Kappa-Theta tilt ended in a dispute and will be replayed. Holding high the KKG banner are Dunlap, Wade, Storey and McCauley. Foremost of the Tri-Dels are Gray and Metcalfe.

The Chi-O's, paced by Mary Kassnerbrock, have been slow starters, but appear stronger in recent games, as have the Alpha Z's and Alpha Gams. Leading scorers in the meet so far are Wilde, KD; Lutes, ADP; Knapp, KAT; Knuckles, Alpha XI; Kassnerbrock, Ohio; Rhoads, Alpha Gamma; Davis, Zeta; Dunlap, Kappa, and Gray, Tri-Del.

The bowling tournament begins Monday, February 10, and each sorority may enter four girls. Entry fee is fifty cents, payable at the gym office. Names of girls and sororities they represent must be in no later than today to be eligible for competition. A traveling trophy will be presented to the winning sorority.

lower South extensively this winter, looking for future Wildcat football material.

The University of Georgia football coaches are worried over the coming gridiron season. They claim that all opponents will be laying for them, in order to break their 16 game winning streak. The Bulldogs face North Carolina, LSU, Kentucky, Oklahoma A&M, and Alabama on successive week-ends, and Wally Butts figures all these games will be tough. Georgia will still have a powerful eleven this fall, even without Charlie Trippi, we predict.

Cat Clippings...

by Tom Diskin

Malcolm McMullen, the six-foot-five-inch center, has left for Xavier University in Cincinnati. His departure last week was overshadowed by the Wildcat-Notre Dame contest. This season McMullen has played in 13 games (45 minutes) and scored eight points. The 20-year-old Hamilton, Ohio, boy left the Wildcats because he was "tired of sitting on the bench," according to reports. Since McMullen knew Lew Hirt, Xavier mentor, from his high school days when Hirt was coach at both the Public and Catholic schools at different times, the big eager chose the Cincinnati school. Xavier intends to use McMullen immediately although Coach Adolph Rupp indicated that the Wildcats were not eager to play schools which "picked up" Kentucky players. One Xavier official said, however, that he thought if Kentucky pushed the transfer very far, "Big Mac" might not be allowed to play anymore this season.

A former Wildcat eager, Darrell Lorance, is leading the Missouri heepsters toward a Big Six conference title by his sensational playing this season. Lorance played under Rupp during the 1945-46 season as a guard and scored 29 points in the 11 games in which he appeared. Little Lorance, a sophomore, sparked the Missouri Tigers to a win over the highly publicized "Whiz kids" of Illinois early this season by scoring 20 points in a close battle, Missouri winning, 53-50. At present the Tigers are tied with the Oklahoma quintet for leadership of the Big Six Conference.

The up-and-coming University of Cincinnati football team is finding it difficult to find suitable teams for the 1947 gridiron season. Recently Tulsa dropped the Queen City school from its schedule, and the Bearcats have been seeking to replace this open date with a "blow-out" team. Thus far, Georgia, Penn, Syracuse, and Penn State have refused to take on the UC Bearcats. These schools figure it is "all to loose, nothing to gain" by playing the growing-up Bearcats this fall. The Wildcats will meet the Cincinnati football eleven early this fall in a game to be played here in Lexington.

Coach Paul Bryant was chief speaker at a football dinner in Montgomery, Ala., Wednesday night. The "Bear" has been covering the

Basketball Play-Off Begins Next Week

Sigma Chis Beat

Sigma Nus, 45-26;

ATO's Upset SAE's

Or a 12-11 upset over the KA's, and a 28-27 edge over the KA's, they have a tough battle on their hands in beating out the Sig Eps and Phi Delt's for one of the remaining two positions in the division.

Division II saw the pre-tournament favorite, Sigma Chis, walk over the Sigma Nus in the closing minutes of their game this week by a 45-26 score, and gain undisputed lead in the division. However, both teams have records which automatically place them in the finals. The Kappa Sigs probably will get one of the other spots, but they dropped a close one earlier to the Delta Chis. Then there are the AGR's who aren't out of the running yet.

Sigma Chis Again

Of the frat teams mentioned the four strongest, and the ones who will probably make the semi-finals in their league are, the SX's, SN's, and the Pi Kaps. Then the way it looks, the final game will be another Sigma Chi-Sigma Nu scrap with the boys from Limestone street coming out on top again, only this time the score will be closer.

The Kentucky Aggies have things under control in division III, with the Turbins as the only really strong threat. The remaining spot to be filled in the finals from this division may either go to the Eight Balls or the Aces.

Dorm I and Atomies

Division IV finds the Cuckolds and Briar Jumpers winning automatic positions in the play-off, with N. Kyans, and Dorm I. As for the Bell Boys probably dropping in number three, Dorm I is the only matched that any two could come through, but a very slight nod is given the Aggies and Dorm I, with the winner anybody's guess.

Other Intramurals

The ping pong tourney is progressing with all play being held in the basement of the Men's gym. Tables and all equipment will be furnished by the intramural department.

The independent league semi-finals will almost surely feature the Kentucky Aggies, Turbines, Collins and the G.D.I.s.

I want to whisper all my plans

And what I hope to be
And then I want to ask you dear,
To share your life with me.

A pretty gypsy read Dempsey's mind
And then she slapped his face

MUSING★ with Melton

By Baxter Melton, Kernel Sports Editor

The inevitable has happened. Coach Adolph Rupp, perennial producer of basketball champions, is being baited by a lucrative offer from the pay-for-play side of netdom. If the Baron will leave his boys in Blue here at the University, he can make at least $15,000 a year as skipper of the professional Louisville Dads, newly organized cage comb in the Falls City.

That's the gist of developments this week. Willis W. Wyant, soft drink bottler, heads the group incorporating the club which will bear his product's name. Others are Irvine Wayne, manager of the Jefferson county Armory; Thomas Edwards, former owner of the Toledo entry in the National Basketball League, and Freeman R. Robinson, Louisville attorney.

$5,000 State Maximum

Under state statutes Coach Rupp can draw only $5,000 annually as director of Cat court destinies. Mr. Wyant and associates have gone on record as willing to offer the Baron a contract whereby he can realize as much as $15,000 or more each year by salary and bonus. In fact, they will offer a five year guarantee of $10,000 per annum right now.

Following their filing of official papers in Frankfort Wednesday, these men came on to Lexington for a talk with the UK coach. After the meeting Rupp released this statement for publication: "I feel highly honored to be considered for his position. Professional basketball in Louisville is natural. At present any thoughts and efforts should be directed to bringing my present University team through its schedule. Until our team has completely carried out its obligations, I am in no position to consider any other plans."

Second Coach Problem

The ruckus over Rupp marks the second time this school year that the University has faced such a problem. Late last fall rumors flew that Paul Bryant, football coach, would move to Alabama, his alma mater, to replace Frank Thomas, retiring because of ill health. That situation was met by the Bear's acceptance of a 10-year contract with a boost in pay. An active organization, directed by downtown businessmen and interested alumni, has collected funds to supplement his salary. Will they be able to do the same with Rupp, keep the colorful coach?

Sideline chatter will wax long and vigorously in the next few weeks, as the Kentuckians complete their schedule and whatever post-season tournaments in which they participate. Pros and cons by the dozens will be advanced about the Baron's leaving or staying. That he can "write his own ticket" is obviously apparent, but can the University outbid the professionals, and will they be able? The Kansas-born mentor has been here 17 years, has input Kentucky on the basketball map.

Member of basketball's Hall of Fame, winner of nine Southeastern conference titles and well on his way to another, the "Man in the Brown Suit" has won national honors as well. They're in the record. And despite the fact that his current charges are almost sure bets for notional champs and mention with the all-time greats, this is not the business at hand.

"Tis his retention as coach. What do you think about the matter?

UK-Louisville Fencers Duel Saturday In Women's Gym

by Winfield Leather

Despite the presence of Albert Wolff, national dueling sword champion, in the Louisville YMCA lineup, the Kentucky sword thrusters are expected to win the match from them in the Women's gym at 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Kentucky's lineup pits Louis Brown and Charles LeGette against Wolff in the dueling sword. Both Brown and LeGette turned in excellent performances against the Charleston semi-professional club in a match here January 18.

On that afternoon Brown took starting honors and furnished the backbone of UK's offense, although it lost 16-10, by coping three wins in foil and two with the dueling sword. LeGette also turned in a perfect record against the Charlestons.

With the brilliant performances turned in during practice sessions this week Coach Karl Holland stated: "We are expecting to win the foil and saber divisions, maybe in the dueling sword, too."

"Sabre and sword dueling matches will be held early in the program," Holland continued, "because these are the most active matches and of the most interest from the spectators' point-of-view."

Foil team entries for Kentucky include Brown, who is a double-duty bladesman, Mickey Kaufman, Fred Thompson, Bill Seherle, and a fifth man to be named.

Against the relatively "green" Louisville entrants in sabers the Kentuckians are expected to dominate with player-coach Miller Holland, George Christen, and Reuben Malone, all experienced thrusters.

Other UK men who may see action are Albert Hurst, Lionel King, John Breitenstein, Joel Ungerleider, and Linton.

Future Matches

The Falls City team will act as host in about two weeks in a return match in Louisville. The following week will find the local fencers journeying to Charleston, W. Va., for a match on March 1.

There will be no admission charged for the match tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Women's gym. All students and townspeople are cordially invited to witness the match, the second one held here in three weeks, after an absence of over five years.

Kentucky-DePaul In Chicago; Georgia Here Monday Night

by O. C. Halyard

Kentucky, the nation's wonder team, leaves by train this morning for Chicago where tomorrow night the Cats meet the DePaul Blue Demons in the second contest between the teams this season. It will be the first performance the Wildcats have put on in the Windy City in a couple of years.

Following their rout of the Notre Dame Irish last week-end, which made them an unanimous selection as the country's best, and their halting of Alabama's undefeated reign, the Wildcats move into the last phase of their regular season play which holds Temple as the only opponent that hasn't already felt the Cats' fury this season.

Georgia Monday

After Saturday's scrap, the Kentuckians return home to meet the Georgia Bulldogs Monday night in the first of a series of return bouts with SEC teams.

Both teams proved to be rather easy foes for the Kentucky Wonder Boys, in their initial engagements, and thus the Cats draw the familiar favored position. The Cats stopped all talk of DePaul being a strong threat to their claims for the nation's crown by pounding them 63-45, back in December. The Georgia Bulldogs were the third team the Cats met on a four day trip around conference circles, and succumbed, 84-45.

with the one during the years stomped the Spartans, 86-36.

George Mikan played college ball, although his little brother, 6 foot 8 inch Ed, has been heralded as just as good a ball player. Ed is definitely the big spark plug of the team, and accounted for six field goals and four out of six free tosses against the Wildcats in the first game.

Kentucky will be trying for win No. 11 since losing to Oklahoma 37-31, and No. 22 for the season. DePaul will enter the game with a less impressive record of 11 victories and six losses. Among the teams who have conquered the Demons are the Oklahoma Aggies who stopped them 44-37, and Bowling Green (Ohio), which marked up a 12-point, 59-47 victory.

Georgia's three wins have been against Chattanooga, Old Miss, and Auburn. The Bulldogs having stopped weak Auburn only 44-40. In the first Kentucky-Georgia game the Georgians gave the Cats a tough fight for five minutes and had the score knotted at 6-all. However, the half time score was 47-20, and Kentucky coasted to an easy win.

DePaul has knocked off Rice, St. Mary's, North Carolina U., and recently beat Murray, 50-47, and Michigan State, 52-45. The Cats
